Course Description, Objectives and Expected Learning Outcomes:

Beginners' Swedish is designed to develop ability in reading and writing Swedish with a strong emphasis on the development of comprehension and oral and written communication. Activities consisting of individual, paired, and small group work are designed to give you ample opportunity to actively practice your speaking ability and to develop your language skills for real-life situations. Moreover, the inclusion of music and film will offer a unique approach to enhance your awareness of Swedish culture while aiding in the practice of communication skills. At the end of this course, you should be able to communicate in Swedish about everyday life, studies, jobs, leisure activities, interests, family, friends, food, and more. In addition, you should be able to use spoken Swedish in a variety of situations. You should be able to write complete sentences and short paragraphs, be comfortable with spoken Swedish used in the classroom and be able to read short texts emphasizing various aspects of Swedish culture.

Course Format: Objectives will be learned via in person meetings as well as self-study. This is referred to "blended learning."

"What is blended learning?" you ask.

"Blended learning" is an approach to language instruction that incorporates various types of teaching methods in both classroom and virtual settings. Its objective is to combine real time communication and self-study with the aid of technology. The course will in person Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays from 1:00pm-1:50pm. Tuesdays and Thursdays are your self-study days.

"What does this mean for me as a student in this course?"

Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays will be our "face-to-face days." These "face-to-face days" or "in person days" will be devoted to activities and exercises that stress communication and interaction with others. On these days you will have the chance to connect with other students in the class and the instructor.

Tuesdays and Thursdays will be our "virtual days." These "virtual days" or "online days" will be devoted to exercises you can do on your own and at a time that works best for you---though on the day they are assigned (Tuesday or Thursday)! The exercises are straight-forward and complement in-class lessons. Most exercises will be done and checked online.

Texts:

The course textbook, Sätt i gång, meaning 'Begin,' will be posted on eClass in installments chapter by chapter throughout the duration of the term. In addition, supplementary exercises also on eClass will be used throughout the course. Audio files will also be posted there. An accompanying glossary in PDF form will be posted there. All texts are free of charge.

Explanatory Notes on Assignments:General:

Announcements about written assignments, homework, online exercises, and exams will be posted on eClass under “Announcements.” Everything with respect to what you must do will be posted daily, so it is imperative that you visit it often. All assignments will stem from either the textbook or the Sätt i gång eClass online portal. If you are absent, it is your responsibility to check eClass for the assignment. Preparedness is your responsibility, so please have all necessary texts and materials when attending class. To succeed in this course, it is highly recommended that you devote a minimum of one hour per day to the study of Swedish.

Attendance and participation – 15%:Attendance, Participation, and In-class Assignments 15%:

Regarding attendance, you are expected to attend class regularly and punctually. Please note, that more than three absences during the semester will result in a reduction of your final participation mark by one letter grade for each additional absence above three. Only in the most extreme cases will exceptions to this be made, so please do not miss. For more detail, please consult the section Attendance, Absences, and Missed Grade Components below.

If you must miss a class, contact another student to find out what was done that day. During the first week of class I will give you the opportunity to exchange email addresses with a few classmates. It is your responsibility to make up work and learn the material for classes you miss, so you want to make sure you have some contacts.

If you have a question about the material, i.e., something you don't understand, please contact me, and I will get back to you as soon as I can. As I usually stop checking email after 5pm, you may not get a response until the next day. In the meantime, do the best you can.

In-class participation is vital to your success in this course. Regarding participation, your percentage will be based on the degree to which you:

- Attend class regularly, arrive on time, and remain for the entire duration
- Are engaged and focused during both pair/group and individual work
- Demonstrate you have studied the material and completed all written homework to the best of your ability
- Show respect for your classmates' contributions to class
- Take responsibility to ask for clarification of an assignment when necessary

Film and documentary screenings are required. If you fail to attend a film screening or leave in the middle, you will be counted absent.

In summary, the grade you earn for this component is based on a holistic assessment of your overall performance with respect to the criteria.

Written Assignments (total 4) 10%:

This portion of your final grade will be based on short written assignments you do on your own and submit to me via eClass (I'll explain how to do this later). These will be marked, given a letter grade, and there will be a total of four. These written assignments will be posted on eClass under "Announcements," and you will usually have about a week to complete them.

Self-study Day Assignments for Virtual Days 15%:

These exercises will be done on eClass on your self-study days. Textbook work will also be required but will contribute toward your participation mark. What distinguishes "Online Exercises" from the "Written Assignments" above is that "Online Exercises" will have points assigned to them. These exercises will be marked immediately, and scores will be recorded. It is your responsibility to do these exercises when they are assigned. Doing them at a time other than when they are assigned (either before they are assigned or later) defeats their purpose which is to help reinforce the material learned in class and thus is strongly discouraged. Moreover, you have two attempts per exercise, and I will record the highest score of the two. As with other assignments, these will be posted on eClass under “Announcements.” Exercises not completed on time will be given a “0.”

Note: For “open ended” exercises where you are asked to select “a. submit,” you should do so only after either writing or typing whatever the exercise calls for. In most cases these exercises will not be submitted to me but will be incorporated into a real-time class activity.

Midterm 30%:

The midterm will cover material taken up from day one of the course and will count as 30% of the final grade. The midterm will be written during class Monday, November 1, 2021, and you will have the entire 50 minutes. The midterm is not open book.

Final 30%:

The final exam will cover material taken up since the midterm and will count as 30% of the final grade. The final will be written Tuesday, December 14, 2021, 2:00pm. You will have two hours to complete the exam. This date will not change. The final is not open book.

Cell Phones & Laptops:

Use of cell phones and laptops is permitted for classroom activities only. Such activities include note taking and accessing readings from eClass. Surfing, texting, or using either as a listening device is forbidden.

Attendance, Absences, and Missed Grade Components:

Regular attendance is essential for optimal performance in any course. In cases of potentially excusable absences due to illness or domestic affliction, notify your instructor by e-mail within two days. Regarding absences that may be excusable and procedures for addressing course components missed as a result, consult sections Attendance and Examinations of the University Calendar. Be aware that unexcused absences will result in partial or total loss of the grade for the “attendance and participation” component(s) of a course, as well as for any assignments that are not handed-in or completed as a result.

Deferral of term work is a privilege and not a right; there is no guarantee that a deferral will be granted. Misrepresentation of facts to gain a deferral is a serious breach of the Code of Student Behaviour.

In this course, student/instructor communication is important. When a student is absent, his/her level of participation in class cannot be assessed. The 15% allotted for attendance and class participation is based on effort and active engagement shown when in attendance. If you miss class, it is your responsibility to contact a classmate to find out what you missed.

Policy for Late Assignments:

Students who consult in advance with an instructor regarding contingencies preventing the timely completion of an assignment may at the discretion of the instructor be granted an extension just one time throughout the course with no penalty. However, if a second excuse will be granted for late assignments half of the mark assigned for this work will be deducted. Otherwise, all assignments should be handed in on the stated deadline. Any assignment not handed-in in time or unexcused late assignments will not be given any marks. Late excuses will not be accepted for any reason.”

Required Notes:

Policy about course outlines can be found in the Evaluation Procedures and Grading System of the University Calendar.

Student Responsibilities:

Academic Integrity:

The University of Alberta is committed to the highest standards of academic integrity and honesty. Students are expected to be familiar with these standards regarding academic honesty and to uphold the policies of the University in this respect. Students are particularly urged to familiarize themselves with the provisions of the Code of Student Behaviour and avoid any behaviour that could potentially result in suspicions of cheating, plagiarism, misrepresentation of facts and/or participation in an offence. Academic dishonesty is a serious offence and can result in suspension or expulsion from the University.

All students should consult the Academic Integrity website. If you have any questions, ask your instructor.

An instructor or coordinator who is convinced that a student has handed in work that he or she could not possibly reproduce without outside assistance is obliged, out of consideration of fairness to other students, to report the case to the Associate Dean of the Faculty. See the Academic Discipline Process.

Language and Translation Courses:

Students involved in language courses and translation courses should be aware that the use of on-line translation to complete assignments constitutes a form of cheating as the student’s own understanding and work is therefore not reflected. Also, students in language courses should be aware that, while seeking the advice of native or expert speakers is often helpful, excessive editorial and creative help in assignments is considered a form of cheating that violates the Code of Student Behaviour.

Recording of Lectures:

Audio or video recording, digital or otherwise, of lectures, labs, seminars, or any other teaching environment by students is allowed only with the prior written consent of the instructor or as a part of an approved accommodation plan. Student or instructor content, digital or otherwise, created and/or used within the context of the course is to be used solely for personal study, and is not to be used or distributed for any other purpose without prior written consent from the content author(s).

Disclaimer:

Any typographical errors in this syllabus are subject to change and will be announced in class and posted on eClass. The date of the final examination is set by the Registrar and takes precedence over the final examination date reported in this syllabus.

Grading:

Assessment of the individual course components may be in the form of numerical marks or letter grades. The final letter grade will be based on "a combination of absolute achievement and relative performance in a class" (University Calendar, Evaluation Procedures and Grading System). The University Grading Procedure mandates that "a student's level of achievement of the goals/outcomes of a course, their grade, and the descriptor of that grade must be aligned" (<https://policiesonline.ualberta.ca/>). The following guidelines have been adopted by the Department of Modern Languages and Cultural Studies:

“MLCS Undergraduate Grading Scale”
